

Learning to Read & Reading to Learn

A Five-Day, K-2 Reading Initiative with a Follow-Up Coaching Day

Research indicates that children who fail to read at grade level by the end of 3rd grade have an 80% chance of dropping out of high school and an 88% chance of never reading on level. The research from Hart and Risley clearly indicates that far too many of our students do not have the oral language background to comprehend content area text.

During the five professional learning sessions, teachers will be engaged in lively discussions and strategies focusing on practical and sustainable ways to engage students in the joy of reading.

Woven throughout the training will be:

- The 5 SBRR components: phonological awareness, phonics, fluency, vocabulary, and comprehension
- Kentucky English Language Arts Common Core Standards
- Writing to Learn Strategies
- Key Strategies for Formative Assessment
- Characteristics of highly effective teaching and learning

Nancy Huston is excited about leading this initiative. Nancy's background includes working as our regional KY Reading First coach, the assistant to the director of the WKU Reading Project, and GRREC's Early Reading First Grant Coordinator. She is currently working as a facilitator with the ELA Common Core Standards network and as GRREC's Elementary Literacy Consultant. In addition, Nancy Jordan, a former Warren County primary teacher and Reading First Coach will be a co-facilitator.
